Release of Insurgency: Sandstorm's console adaptation delayed due to COVID19

No impact on FY 2020/21 guidance

PARIS, FRANCE – 18th June 2020 – FOCUS HOME INTERACTIVE (FR0012419307 ALFOC), a leading French publisher of video games, announced that the release of Insurgency: Sandstorm for PlayStation 4 and Xbox One initially planned for August 25th, 2020 has been delayed due to the impact of the Covid-19 crisis and the subsequent lockdown. This shift will allow the studio to refine the console adaptation of the title, which has already attracted more than a million players on PC. Console players will also have access to an even more complete version of the game from launch, as the studio continues to regularly add new content to the PC version. Finally, this extra time will allow the studio to fully explore the possibility of a next generation of console release and thus benefit from the exciting possibilities offered by these new machines. Focus Home Interactive confirmed that the delay of this game will have no impact on its revenue guidance for the end of the 2020/21 fiscal year: €110M - €130M (at constant scope).

John Bert, COO, declared: "The lockdown period and the consequences of the Covid-19 crisis finally had a marginal impact on our internal organization and that of our partner studios. As a consequence, we have decided to delay the release of Insurgency: Sandstorm for consoles to maintain the level of quality expected from Focus Home Interactive's games. Whilst this decision has been difficult, it will allow us to release additional content on the PC version and adapt to the next generation of platforms. This delay will not affect our revenue objectives given the incredible success of SnowRunner, which has already reached one million players in just a few weeks."
